

Hyperactive Technologies Names Dave Douglas To Its Board Of Directors

Pittsburgh, PA, February 20, 2007...HyperActive Technologies, Inc., a world leader in kitchen production management systems which create real time operational solutions for quick serve and fast casual restaurants, has named renowned restaurant technology industry expert Dave Douglas to its Board of Directors.

“Dave is truly a pioneer in the restaurant technology industry, and HyperActive Technologies is honored to have him as a member of our board of directors,” said Joe Porfeli, CEO of HyperActive Technologies. “We will certainly benefit from his extensive technological knowledge, and we look forward to sharing ideas in the months and years ahead.”

Currently, Mr. Douglas is a restaurant technology consultant/advisor who assists new and established restaurant technology providers in growing their businesses. Previously, Mr. Douglas was recruited by the founders of Priceline.com to launch a new suggestive selling restaurant technology business called RetailDNA. From June 1999 until June 2001, Mr. Douglas was President and COO of RetailDNA where he – among other accomplishments – hired over 100 employees, helped raise two rounds of capital and secured alliances with all the major POS providers to successfully penetrate the QSR industry’s major chains.

Prior to his involvement with RetailDNA, Mr. Douglas founded ReMACS (Restaurant Management And Control Systems) and served as President and CEO. ReMACS was a pioneer provider for back office management solutions software in the food industry. ReMACS went on to become the largest provider of restaurant management systems with 15,000 installations worldwide. In 1997, ReMACS was sold to Radiant Systems, where Mr. Douglas continued as President of Radiant’s hospitality division.

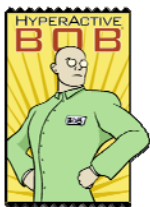

In 1998, Mr. Douglas earned the honorary award for outstanding achievement in the food service industry at FS/TEC. He holds a BS degree in Business Administration, with an emphasis in finance, from the University of Oregon.
